Why Algae Farming is Not Scalable or Profitable

In some geographical areas or installations this may lower power consumption costs in algae production by creating a gentle heat source in the tank in combination with better lighting for growth. A healthy spectrum that better fits the needs of algae better means gives better potential growth rates for every watt of lighting used.

Cultivating Macroalgae in Your Saltwater Aquarium

Build your own algae photobioreactor (PBR) grow kit, to cultivate valuable algal strains, and tap into the rapidly growing algae industry. Grow algae reliably, and repeatably, with photobioreactor (PBR) algae grow kits for controlled photosynthesis. Grow up to four different algal taxa using these four-vessel algae grow kits rated at 80 liter total capacity. Complete with optical, mechanical, electrical, pneumatic, and biological systems, photobioreactors give you complete control.

The algae ponds are “inoculated” with CO₂ to accelerate the growth process. The resulting green crude can supposedly be refined to the same ASTM standards as light black crude for products like jet fuel, gasoline and diesel. The company’s “Phase 1” goal is to produce 1.5 million gallons of green crude per year by 2015.

Michael Smith of Algae Aqua-Culture Technology’s Green Power House™ is an Algae Biofuel Case Study and environmental innovator of micro algae grow and micro-farming. His love for Montana’s natural surroundings combined with his software and engineering skills manifested a green bio refinery into a reality.

Micro Algae Grow: An Algae Biofuel Case Study in Profit

Isolated from contamination, these photobioreactors, offer the researcher total control of all inputs, and thermodynamic conditions, to grow a specific monoculture algal strain. Grow Algae for Profit, using photobioreactors, to produce useful quantities of pure species (taxa). Grow Algal Biomass, for your experiments, or for sale, with this easy-to-build Photobioreactor.
